

MTN Group (MTN.JO): African Telecom Cash Machine

MTN Group has experienced a -65.0% price drawdown from 53,780 ZAR down to 18,820 ZAR following severe Nigerian Naira currency devaluations. The underlying operational engine remains immense: 236B ZAR in revenue, 100.6B ZAR in EBITDA (42.5% margin), and 38.2B ZAR in Free Cash Flow.

At 8.63× Forward P/E, the market is pricing permanent currency destruction on a business that controls critical mobile network infrastructure and Mobile Money (MoMo) fintech rails across South Africa, Nigeria, and 15+ African economies.

VALUATION AT 18,820 ZAR	CASH GENERATION	VERDICT & SIZING
8.63× Forward P/E	38.2B ZAR FCF	STARTER (1.0%)
Down 65.0% from 53,780 ZAR peak	100.6B ZAR EBITDA (42.5% margin)	Frontier telecom recovery play

The Key Financial Metrics in One View

EXECUTION ARCHITECTURE

Execution & Sizing Architecture

TRANCHE	TARGET LEVEL	ALLOCATION	EXECUTION RATIONALE
Tranche 1 (Starter Entry)	18,000 – 19,000 ZAR	1.00% ($10,000)	Capture currency devaluation trough at 8.6x Forward P/E.
Tranche 2 (Catalyst Add)	Post-Naira Stabilization	+0.50% ($5,000)	Add upon sequential Nigerian EBITDA stabilization.

All adjudications executed non-destructively under SignalOS Court Doctrine.